

Stay Healthy Re-Opening Visitor Policy

The Wray Museum will be reopening to the public on Tuesday, July 7. We are excited to see visitors once again. We have implemented the following policies in addition to our normal Visitor's Policy Guide to keep our guests and staff safe and healthy:

Normal Hours

The Museum will be open normal hours from Noon (12 pm) to 4 pm Tuesday through Saturday.

If you consider yourself high-risk due to age (65+) or a medical condition, we have designated a time for you to visit. You can call us at 970-332-5063 and reserve a spot to visit from 10 am to Noon (12 pm) on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Remember, if you're feeling unwell, have a temperature or cough, please stay home.

Let's Maintain a Safe Distance

When you visit the museum, you'll see signs reminding you to maintain a safe social distance. Please follow these and other directional signs and remember to give everyone enough space—at least six feet between your group and others around you! A maximum of 5 visitors will be allowed in each gallery at a time.

We're All Wearing Masks

We encourage all visitors over the age of five wear masks that cover their mouth and nose. All museum staff and volunteers will be wearing masks, too. If you do not have a mask, our staff will be happy to provide you with one.

Let's Keep Things Clean

Please wash your hands before visiting and make good use of the hand-sanitizer dispensers that you'll find at the entrance and exit areas of the Museum. We are regularly disinfecting common touch points and using enhancing cleaning procedures throughout our facilities.

Public Programs

Use of the Wray Museum's meeting space and all public programming remains cancelled until further notice, including private tours, lectures, and performances. Use of Museum Archive and Research Materials must be requested in advance and are subject to limitations. Please call to set up an appointment time.

These regulations are being implemented in accordance with the State of Colorado's Re-opening Plan and with the priority to keep our guests and employees safe and healthy amid the ongoing global pandemic. If you have any additional questions, please call 970-332-5063. Thank you and we look forward to seeing you soon.
